WHO WE ARE

Mith Samlanh is an organization that helps young Cambodians to become productive members of their society.

We support families to stay together, return children to public school education, train young people and parents for employment and get them jobs.

WHAT WE DO

Our teams deliver direct services (such as medical, education and lifeskills) on the streets, in our centers and in communities. In our centers we offer education, vocational training and cultural activities in a protective and safe environment.

OUR IMPACT

In one year our work benefits more than 15,000 children, young people and their caregivers.

We reintegrate and support over 1,400 children in public school each year. Provide vocational training leading to employment for over 700 young people each year.

Deliver over 1.5 million services annually to children, young people and their caregivers through our teams, on the streets, in communities and in our centers.

OUR SOCIAL BUSINESSES

Our social businesses support our program activities. Through them, our students and their parents get skills training and hands-on experience that allow them to find stable employment and to make an income to care for their families, keeping children safe and in school.

Our businesses include our famous training restaurants, the Friends'N'Stuff shops and the Nail Bar.
